Commodores Comment

Hi and welcome to this month's newsletter.

As I write this Easter has been and gone and I'm sure most of you tried to get out boating or went along to see Ed Sheeran over the break. The clocks gone back and now the days will get shorter and colder.

This month we have the 4 wheel drive trip which was a popular event last year and also the Kingston Katch which is a good weekend away at the Lodge.

The Marathon series get underway this month so good luck to all the GBC members doing this. The GBC has the very last meeting to host this year in Te Anau so it will be a big turnout.

At the Lodge we have purchased a couple of hot water urns (no running out of hot water for tea/coffee or dishes). We have upgraded the oldest fridge/freezer and the water pump is on its way out so it is also getting replaced.

Thanks to Derek Ayson and Andrew Graves who gave us a great presentation and talk about their rallying. We also had the presentation of the trophies from the Ski Champs the same night which all worked well.

Duck Shooting coming up will keep most of you pretty excited in the upcoming month as well I'm sure.

Once again please support the events the committee have organised as we put a lot of time into it and we welcome any ideas people have.

Until next time,
Tony McDowall
GBC 795

Secretary Notes:

The March Executive meeting was held at Martin Heanue's home and there were twelve members present.

Lodge matters consumed a bit of the meeting time and the issues with the water pressure and hot water reticulation have been resolved in the meantime with a visit by a couple of gun plumbers who fine-tuned the existing pressure pump system. It may need revisiting sometime in the future and a renewal of the pressure pump. Other items discussed were the state of the deck timbers, with a few holes appearing here and there and a necessity to provide a barrier at the east end to stop drunks from falling off there. We will fix these things at the next working bee. Another option is to ban alcohol.

The Lodge is paying its way nicely at present with good bookings and is getting the seal of approval from most renters. Repairs and improvements over recent years are proving a good investment. One problem we still have is the lawns. There is a good lawnmower there now so if you are hiring the Lodge and the lawns are looking a bit shaggy please grab the mower and give them a trim. Should be done in the time it takes your mates to down a dozen stubbies.

On the financial side, the Club is doing quite well although Henry said only 170 members have paid their subs so far this year. If you haven't paid your sub yet hop to it or else send a letter of resignation if you no longer want to be a member. For paying online the Clubs Bank number is 030915 0271773-00. Make sure you include your name and the prefix Sub.

Secretary Notes:

Other items discussed were mainly related to Coming Events. Unfortunately the Poker Run details were missed from the last Shoreline and it will be all done and dusted by the time you get this but the details have been well covered on the Boat Club Facebook page. Friends can always find the current goss there. The 4WD trip and the Kingston Katch details will be covered elsewhere in the Shoreline

Those darned yachts. Yep they are still there and have been used every Tuesday afternoon over the last month by six Balfour school kids as part of their school work. They are doing really well and although last week was largely calm, they all managed to get around the buoys by cheating before being allowed to go for a swim. The last day for their course is today (27th) and they will be competing for the Van de Water Trophy. It will be a proper America's Cup type start.

That's all for now. I have to rush away to a workshop on Needlecraft for Junkies at the polytech. You can contact me on my cell 0272089031 if you want anything discussed by the Executive.

March General Meeting Report

The evening started with Commodore Tony presenting the Water Ski Championship trophies and certificates to the young and not so young 2018 ski champs.

After some technical hitches local rally ace Derek Ayson and his trusted co- driver Andrew Graves gave a very interesting run down of their car rally career. It was fascinating to hear the paths they have followed since their first rally in 1998. It's easy to understand the importance of sponsorship in this sport as there are a lot of trophies but no prize money up for grabs.

By the number of trophies they have it's obvious they are both on top of their game...all achieved without incident.

The importance of the co-driver is very clear - it is far more than yelling the pace notes at the driver (they seemed like another language to me) but they are responsible for the welfare of the driver in every way from nutrition and hydration to making sure they are well slept up the night before the rally and get to the race exactly on time.

Derek and Andrew have been rallying together for so long that they have total faith in each others ability.

Although he would love to drive Andrew is excited to have secured a position co- driving for the Holden Barina Rally Sport Team.

The boys brought along tyres and Andrews suit and helmet which made a couple of the young ones very happy to get their photo taken wearing.

Not sure if it was the change to the usual meeting night or the tummy bug that was doing the rounds but it was a pity more members didn't take the opportunity to attend – even the non petrol head present enjoyed the evening.

Otago Harbour Trip

Bother blow and bust weather forecasters. Forecast nor east winds of 9 metres per second meant there was a fair chance of white caps and rollers down the harbour for our trip. So being a responsible convenor I postponed it.

I have work coming up in Dunedin soon that required delivery of materials so decided to take the opportunity to do that. Cook had been looking forward to the trip and had found that the stars aligned for excellent fishing. We would take the rods and she could fish from the shore.

Conditions on the way up were almost calm and when we dropped down into the city, the harbour looked quite boat able, certainly no worse than Wakatipu on a breezy afternoon. Bugger, bugger, bugger.

All was not lost though, because my wee boat Bang Gunly now lives in Port Chalmers at my brother Mike's place. It didn't take long to decide to launch at Back Beach and try some fishing from the boat. This was also a time to try the boat out in choppy conditions since it hadn't been further than Eden's pond and with only running in fuel and largely calm conditions.

We fished with paravanes around the islands with Mike catching a barracuda before we decided to try the main channel towards the harbour entrance. About now we discovered that we were running on the remnants of the running in fuel and that Mike hadn't actually mixed any new fuel, so a check of the tank (hidden under the front seat) revealed we were running on the smell of an oily rag. We made it back to the ramp and Mike went off to mix some new fuel.

Otago Harbour Trip

While Louise and I waited a familiar boat came along side. It was Trevor and Noeline Heaps who had booked a cottage for the weekend before I had called them to cancel the trip. They had had no luck fishing and had trouble getting the paravanes to work. We did a bit of sleuthing and concluded the lures were too big so they decided to have another go with smaller ones.

Refuelled, we set off again to head north of back beach. There was a monster cruise ship berthed at the chip wharf so we fished around it then up past a big container ship, then out into the main channel. Mike managed to catch another five barras, which are a useless fish for eating and they were returned to the briny. Conditions were choppy but not uncomfortable and we gave the boat a run at full tit a couple of times. She certainly moves along quickly certainly different to my barge Red Setter.

We were soon tired of Barracuda fishing, so did a tiki tour around the moored boats at Deborah Bay and Carrey's Bay. There are some sorry neglected boats there, it almost makes you weep but overall it is a very picturesque place. Eventually we decided to head home. The waves had increased in size now and just off the chip wharf there were contra waves that made navigation "interesting" but the wee boat felt quite safe and we only got wet a couple of times. As we loaded the boat the Heaps returned to the ramp having caught a couple of barracuda so all was not lost. We will reschedule a trip there again so watch the events page for details. Apologies to those people who were interested this time.

Pete Salmon

Had an interesting experience while fishing in Lake Wanaka during the holidays. We had spent a while fishing along the shore by foot and having a successful time we decided to go and have some lunch under one of our favourite trees. While we were having lunch I noticed quite a bit of a disturbance under a Willow tree which was hanging out over the water, it looked a lot like fish in a feeding frenzy but a bit hard to tell from 200 m. away. I picked up the rod and moved on down to investigate, keeping back against the background cover. When arriving at the tree sure enough there were two fish feeding like mad. There was nothing flying in the air or off the water so I moved closer to the tree and here there were lots and lots of Honey Bees in amongst the tree leaves crawling all over them and trying with their mouths to extract something from the leaves. There was no blossom on the tree so I'm not sure what they were after. The trouble was that quite a few of them were falling into the water and being quickly taken by the fish. So I thought this should be good and proceeded to present the existing fly that was on the line to them. One came boring over immediately had a quick look and back to bees. Bugger! So I had a look in my fly boxes to find something that looked like bee. Nothing, so I took something that was at least the same colour and cast it out and same fish came for a look and said that will do and so I caught him. He was not a large one but by god was he full so I took out the hook and let him go back. Been fishing a long time and never saw that before but it was nice experience.

EATING IN THE FIFTIES

Pasta had not been invented. It was macaroni or spaghetti.

Curry was a surname.

A take-away was a mathematical problem.

Pizza? Sounds like a leaning tower somewhere.

Bananas and oranges only appeared at Christmas time.

All chips were plain.

Oil was for lubricating, fat was for cooking.

Tea was made in a teapot using tea leaves and never green.

Cubed sugar was regarded as posh.

Chickens didn't have fingers in those days.

None of us had ever heard of yogurt.

Healthy food consisted of anything edible.

Cooking outside was called camping.

Seaweed was not a recognized food.

'Kebab' was not even a word, never mind a food.

Sugar enjoyed a good press in those days, and was regarded as being white gold.

Prunes were medicinal.

Surprisingly muesli was readily available. It was called cattle feed.

Pineapples came in chunks in a tin; we had only ever seen a picture of a real one.

Water came out of the tap. If someone had suggested bottling it and charging more than gasoline for it, they would have become a laughing stock.

The one thing that we never ever had on/at our table in the fifties ... was elbows, hats and cell phones.
